TO THE PUBLIC.

I desire to announce to my friends and the traveling public that I have this day assumed control of the Leland Hotel of this place. I will endeavor to make the Leland a pleasant place for my patrons, to the end that I may really deserve a liberal share of patronage from any desiring hotel accommodations. Being very anxious to make this a first class hotel I desire the favorable co-operation of all.

B. D. ALLEN, Prop'r.

Iola, Kans., April 9th, 1875.

The roads continue good.

The grass is growing nicely.

The good work of planting trees continues.

Drummers from the city are on the streets daily.

The assessors will soon be making their grand rounds.

Get out your fishing tackle and be ready for the spring freshets.

The new City Council held their first meeting last Monday evening.

Prospects were never better for an abundant crop of fruits of all kinds.

The early cabbages have already been harvested—by the grasshoppers.

Will Yates, of Thayer, has been visiting his father and mother in this city this week.

A number of new roads are wanted in the county. See "road notices" in another column.

County Sunday School Convention on the 18th of May at Humboldt. Programme next week.

Young grasshoppers are hatching out by the million, and they are very partial to early vegetation.

Mr. Wm. Evans, of Carlyle, has gone to his old home near Franklin, Ind., to see his father who is very ill.

Ice cream will soon be in order and Allen is fitting up the second story of his restaurant in good style for this trade.

Miss Ida Hammer, who has been living with Mrs. Buser, left here last Wednesday for her home in Vandalia, Illinois.

From all parts of the county comes the report that farmers were never before working with such energy as they are this spring.

Persons wanting house plants should write to Mrs. L. Everett, Garnett, Kans. Read her announcements among the local notices.

Mr. Garrison has about completed his new cheese factory on Deer Creek and will soon be ready for the manufacture of cheese.

We received a communication from Geneva this week on "The Reasons Why" which, for want of space, we leave over till next week.

"Old Reliable"—C. D. Briggs—has taken an interest in Hayworth's confectionery store. The name of the firm is now Hayworth & Co.

Allen has engaged Charles Steele to attend to the office and general business of the Leland and Charles has entered upon his duties as "mine host."

Horse thieves around. One of Dr. Hart's horses were stolen last Monday night, and the thieves attempted to get into a number of other stables in the city.

Mrs. J. N. White, in company with her children started to Southern Missouri last Wednesday on a visit to her father and mother. She will probably spend the summer with them.

The Board of County Commissioners, at their session on Thursday, appointed W. C. Jones and C. P. Ives to assist the Probate Judge in making the examination of the County Treasury for the second quarter, 1875.

M. A. Simpson, an old resident of this county, and for a number of years County Supt. Pub. Instruction, died at his residence in Deer Creek township Tuesday April 20th. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian Church at 11 o'clock Thursday, Rev. James Lewis, of Humboldt, officiating. Mr. Simpson at the time of his death was seventy-five years and one week old.

The County Clerk has furnished us the report of the expenses of Allen county in accounts as audited and allowed by the County Commissioners at their late sessions, but on account of the large number of "Road Notices" also furnished for publication the "Report of Expenses" is left over till next week. In the report we see that the amount of county orders not canceled is only $876.34. A good showing for the county.

FARMERS, WHAT IS OUR DUTY?

A truly grave and important question: A question that not only demands our most careful consideration, but a unity of action, and a determination of purpose, commensurate with the interest at stake. That duty is not only of vital importance to ourselves and families at the present time but has a direct bearing as to the status of generations yet unborn. We are the custodian of their rights, and in a measure, of their welfare and happiness. Can we bequeath to them that which we do not possess? Do we still possess that which we have surrendered to our enemies? To you, Farmers, who being the base of all industries, and therefore of all wealth, and who, by means of your power and strength of numbers are enabled not only to control the law making powers, but administration thereof, to you it belongs to see that justice shall prevail over injustice. To you has been granted the privilege of deciding whether our children shall bow their heads in degraded servility to tyrannical oppressions, or whether they shall each take position according to their merits. To you belongs the inauguration of a system by means of which natural ability can be fully developed. Can such ability be properly developed in those who are kept in ignorance? Can aught but ignorance prevail among a class who are deprived of the means of securing proper education?

While we are justly taxed in order to afford means to build and support institutions of learning we are unjustly deprived of the full use of such institutions in consequence of being kept in poverty, by the systematic robbery practiced upon us by non-producing combinations. Thus our enemies reap the principal benefit of such institutions, and use such advantage to our detriment. Then—what is our duty? As the industrial classes desire and need peace, it requires a long-continued course of imposition to fully arouse them; but there is a limit to such a course and as tyrannical persecutions recognize no limits the crisis is rapidly approaching. That good old motto: "United we stand, divided we fall," is entirely applicable in our case. An organized army is necessary to check the aggressions of an organized army, so organized labor is necessary to check the present system of organized theft, and on the efficiency of such organization depends the chances of successful defence. As long as those interested stand aloof, (from any cause whatever), so long and in such a degree will success be delayed or endangered. Then what is our duty?

While there appears to be a unanimity of sentiment among the Farmers as to the necessity of an organized plan of operations, by means of which they can obtain and secure their just rights and thereby place their families in the position we feel they should occupy, yet there appears to be some hesitation (on the part of a few individuals) as to the propriety of effecting the object in view through what is known as the Grange movement. If such persons would suggest a more effectual or a less objectionable mode of bringing about the desired object, their plans would be duly appreciated and no doubt adopted; but fault-finders and sneerers are not apt to suggest practical plans: therefore, Farmers who oppose the Grange movement must naturally be suspected of having more interest outside of the Grange than inside of it; for now as ever self-preservation is the first law of nature.

It is much to be regretted that some individuals claiming to be ministers of the Gospel have so far transcended their spiritual duties as to assume to dictate as to the management of temporal affairs, by attacking the Grangers, with the intention of retarding its efforts—under the plea that it is a secret society, and as such, is not conformable to the laws of Christianity. For the sake of Christianity we regret that they have assumed this position. The decline of more than one church can be traced directly to the assumption of temporal power by the ministers thereof. We concede that a society organized for a secret purpose is questionable; but the purpose of the Grange is not a secret. It is organized for the known purpose of ameliorating the condition of the laboring classes, (the mass of mankind), and enabling them to become better citizens.

It is composed of men and women of all political creeds and of all religious denominations—people who earn their bread by the sweat of their brows—people of character—and its purpose is well known to be the elevation of mankind, by promulgating such principles as tend to subdue the passions and harmonize society.

When destitution overtook the unfortunate of Nebraska and Kansas, then the Grange was tested. Where is the Grange that did not contribute to the relief of the sufferers? Where is the Grange that refused to aid the needy (when distributing food and clothing) because of their not belonging to a Grange? When the Granges from South Carolina to Massachusetts sent aid to Kansas, they knew no distinctive features. They knew only the needy and the Grangers of Kansas (in the distribution) knows only the needy. Can the would-be dictators say that such action is not conformable to the laws of Christianity. If their dictation is admissible in this case where shall it end. Does a few tokens whereby we may know our friends from our enemies, (whereby we may prevent imposition), constitute a secret society? God forbid!

While we respectfully ask the aid of all Farmers, in the Grange movement, we ask no abridgement of any truly conscientious scruples on their part. To those who hesitate we would only say, look well into this matter, and judge for yourself.

Who are they who would thus enlighten us as to our duties as Christians? Are they our true friends? If so, why do they wish us to remain in the hands of our enemies?

Is their judgment in matters that pertain to our worldly welfare, so superior to our own, that we may be guided by it without danger of further persecutions? Are their natural and educational abilities so far in advance of the great moral teachers who preceded them, that they see wrong where others saw it not? Is their Christianity so perfect that they alone are gifted with the power of truly interpreting the Scriptures?

The warning has been given to mankind, that there shall be prophets, and false prophets.

Whenever it is made manifest that they are the true prophets and therefore endowed with superior knowledge, wisdom and virtue, then and then only can we safely bow to their decisions.

Until such proof is presented to our understanding, we cannot ignore, that first and strongest, of Nature's laws, is "Self preservation," nor the fact, that in "Union there is Strength." Then—Farmers, what is our duty?

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At the late meeting of the Presbytery of Nebraska, held at Fort Gibson, Indian Territory, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Since the last stated meeting of the Presbytery of Nebraska, Rev. John W. Pinkerton has been removed from our number by death, therefore, resolved,

That we recognize in the event the will of our Heavenly Father, to which we bow in humble submission.

That we feel deeply the loss we have sustained, in that we can no more enjoy the companionship and co-operation of one so noble in Christian character, and so zealous in the service of our Master.

That we find in his life as a Home Missionary an example in charity, self-denial, and faith, which may well command our emulation, and in his sudden decease a solemn admonition to be also ready, knowing not at what hour the call may come for us to depart.

That we sympathize deeply with his bereaved wife, and the large circle of his mourning friends, yet rejoice with them in the assurance that our brother has entered into his bright reward above.

That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to Mrs. Pinkerton, and that they be published in THE IOLA REGISTER.

BIG INVENTION.

Lloyd, the famous map man, who made all the maps for General Grant and the Union army, certificates of which he published, has just invented a way of getting a relief plate from steel so as to print Lloyd's Map of American Continent—showing from ocean to ocean—on one entire sheet of bank note paper 40x50 inches large, on a lightning press, and colored, sized and varnished so as to stand washing and mailing, for 30 cents, and plain for tourists 25 cents, or mounted with rollers ready for the wall, and delivered postpaid anywhere in the World, on receipt of 50 cents. This map shows the whole United States and Territories in a group, from surveys to 1875, with a million places on it, such as villages, towns, cities, mountains, lakes, rivers, streams, gold mines, railway stations, etc. This map should be in every house. Send price to Lloyd Map Company, Philadelphia, and you will get a copy by return mail.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

IOLA, April 19, 1875.

The new Council met pursuant to the call of the Mayor. The Mayor, Councilmen and Police Judge, subscribed to the usual oath of office. On motion N. F. Acers was elected President of the Council. Minutes of the last previous meeting read and approved.

The following standing committees were then appointed by the Mayor: Finance—Wm. Richards, G. W. Apple, N. F. Acers, Judiciary—J. H. Richards, C. M. Simpson, G. W. Apple. Streets and Alleys—G. W. Apple, Wm. Richards, N. F. Acers. Public Grounds—C. M. Simpson, J. H. Richards, G. W. Apple. License—N. F. Acers, G. W. Apple, Wm. Richards.

The Mayor then made the following appointments: For Treasurer, John Francis; Street Commissioner, James Simpson; Clerk, W. J. Sapp; all of whom were duly confirmed by the Council.

On motion the Council instructed the Judiciary Committee to mature a plan, to be presented to the Council at its next meeting, purposing to save the city the expense connected with the office of City Marshal.

The bills of Jacob Bowers, L. J. Rhoades, and J. Shomon, and also the official bond of J. K. Boyd were then read and on motion referred to the Finance Committee.

On motion the Council adjourned to Monday next.

J. SHOMON, Clerk.
